KILLED BY THE CON-BUCTOR.

Kahr Taylor Shot on An Excursion Train.

A large crowd left this city for Louisville on the events A large crown left this city for Louisville on the excursion train Sunday morning, and is as usually the case, some of the excursionists were pretty well loaded with whisky. Kahr Taylor, the young colored man who stabbed James Kineaid so severely last summer, was among the number, and when the train had severely last summer, was among the number, and when the train had reached St. Mathews Station he attempted to kick down the door of the water closet in the car, and an eye-witness gives the following account of what followed: Conductor William Wilder, who was in charge of the train, went to Taylor and told him if he did not desist he would the world of the train. Taylor care and the world of the train of the train. him if he did not desist he would put him off the train. Taylor cursed the conductor and said no d-n white s-n of a b-h could put him off the train, when Wilder started to take hold of him, the negro struck the conductor and threw his hand behind him as if to draw a weapon, and was shot by Wilder be fore he could get his hand up.

The town marshal of Eminene was on the train and Wilder was surrendered to him immediately and was turned over to the police as was turned over to the police as soon as the train reached Louisville, but was afterwards released on bond. The news of Taylor's death created quite an excitement among the colored people here and an immense crowd was at the depot when the train came in that night, bringing the remains. As the shooting occurred in Jeffer-son county Wilder had an examining trial in Louisville Monday morning and was acquitted.

McGillaway-Griffin.

Mr. Robert E. McGillaway, of Mt. Sterling, and Miss Agnes Griffin, of this city, were married at the Church of the Good Shepherd at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, in the presence of quite a company of friends and invited guests, Rev. Father Gorey officiating.

The bridal party approached the The bridal party approached the attarn the following order: Ushers—Mesers. Chas. R. Stephens, this city, and John McKee, of Mt. Sterling; Thos. G. Newman and Richard Lynch, this city; then the bride leaning upon the arm of her maid of honor, Miss Margery McGillaway, of Mt. Sterling, sister of the groom, who were followed by the groom, leaning upon the arm of Mr. John Coleman, of Mt. Sterling, who officiated as best man. Arriving at the altar the party passed within the altar the party passed within the chancel and arranged themselves in channel and arranged themselves in an appropriate manner before the officiating minister, the groom having relieved the maid of honor of her charge at the steps of the altar. After the solemn ceremony had been pronounced the party left the Church and took the 19:20 L. & N. train for Mr. Storling, the future home of the bride and groom.

At night an elegant reception was given at the residence of the groom's parents, and was largely attended. Those present from this city were: Misses Maggle Griffin, Marie Curns, Nonie Feehan, Johanna Noonan, Murphy; Messrs. Chas. R.

ns, Tom. G. Newman and Examination of Teachers. Stephens, Tom. G. Newman and Richard Lynch. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents.

Lead Mine.

A lead mine has been opened upon the farm of Mr. Watts, just over the Anderson county line, near Blakemorg's distillery, and a shaft wenty-five feet deep has been sunk. The ore is very rich and has some traces of silver in it. The mine is charge or Prof. Brooks, a mining expert, who is working twelve hands, and parties interested have goneon to New York to purchase a smelling aparatus. Ore interested have goneon to New York to purchase as melting aparatus. Ore estimated to be worth about two thousand dollars has been taken out at an expense of less than two hundred. The vein lies north and south and in its northern extension runs into the farms of Messra, M. D. Averill, D. D. Parker and B. M. D. Averin, D. D. Faraer and S. Farmer, in this county. Infested with Thieves.

Georgetown seems to be infested with sneak thieves. The Times says more than twenty residences in that city have been entered by thieves in the last six months.

The Manly Art.

Mr. John Ward, the featherweight champion, of Chichnati, is giving boxing lessons at the Athletic Club rooms, from 8 to 10 o'clock each eve-ning. He has organized quite a class of young men who are desirous of learning the manly art of self defense.

Prison Day.

As Tuesday was "prison day" with the Women's Christian Temperance Union, a number of ladies came to this city from Louisville and Lexing-ton, and the Penitentiary visited, where flowers were distributed to the convicts confined therein. Each bunch of flowers had a passage of scripture attached, and every prison-er recloved a small boquet.

A most successful session of the above school closed on Friday, withabove school closed on Friany, with-out any commencement exercises whatever. There were forty-two scholars upon the roll for the torm just closed, and the prospects for the session, which commonces in Sep-tember, are very flattering, a large number of scholars having already tember, are very flattering, a large number of scholars having already been engaged. Prof. Case has just issued his annual entalogue, which is very complete, and they will be distributed in a few days. The school is one our city may well be proud of and deserves liberal pa-tronage from our citizens.

An Opportunity for a Just

The success of the Frankfort City School no one questions. Where other schools of like character in other evides have lost in strength and tone and popular affection, ours has grown steadily from year to stift the long daily procession that enters its gates, its high tide of prosperly. To this result Prof. Browder largely contributed. Not only did he give daily supervision to the school, but many nights and days of plan and thought to ways and means of promoting its success by legislative and administrative work. The night

School for ambitious young men, who had not time to spare from daily inchor to acquire an education, was his suggestion. He was not only a mere officer to discharge duty prescribed, and to perform a routine, but he was an active sid to the trustees and a working friend to promote success in every desirable way for popular to him in the midst of his work. More than twenty years of service as principal was closed forever. Of course, like all men of active, goalous, progressive minds, he kindled antagonism and found opposition, drawn, and the contests, whatever they may have been, is stilled. The suggestion has been made, and we trust the Trustees will carry it into effect, to grant to the widow of Prof. Browder the bahance of the saincy that would have bon due him sion had he lived. The amount is small, it will be a just act. The large work Prof. Browder rendered the school in various ways, all contributing through many years to its success, that did not come under render it in some sense a recompense and proper recognition. This work advanced the cause of the City School and proper recognition. This work advanced the cause of the City School and proport promoted popular education in Frankfort to an extent that few, unstiled those directly interestical, knew.

few, outside those directly interest-ed, knew.
Every pupil—and there are thou-sands—and every citizen who has watched the growth of the school with local pride, will, we know, cor-dially unite in asking that the just and worthy act be done, and as cor-dially thank the Trustees for doing it.
